Hillary Marks is a litigation associate at Farella Braun + Martel with a focus on employment law.

During law school, Hillary was a legal research and writing teaching assistant with the Board of Student Advisors and a vice president of the West Coast Law Student Association. She was a Judicial Extern for the Honorable Goodwin Liu at the Supreme Court of California. As a student attorney in Harvard's Criminal Justice Institute, she represented indigent clients facing misdemeanor charges in Boston criminal courts.

Prior to law school, Hillary worked on Google's Ethics and Compliance team for two years and as a high school special education teacher for four years.
